

W. J. Frederick's aged father passed away the first of the month at Portland Oregon where he had lived with another son.