

Three local people were in auto accidents at different times the past week. Sunday night Iver Alm was driving home from up town and as his lights were not working he failed to see Charles Ernst's truck which was standing in front of Wm. Sutton's until too late to avoid the crash which followed. The truck was pushed about twenty feet forward but not injured. The wheels of Iver's car were twisted out of shape but no other serious harm was done. Wednesday night Adolph Berglund's car collided with one driven by two strangers on the state road near Geo. Howden's. The latter car was very badly smashed and one of the men seriously hurt. Richard Bailey, happening along on his way home from the fair, took the man to Cooperstown for surgical attention. Thursday afternoon Mrs. Gladys Beach, H. E. Black's housekeeper, lost control of his car which she was driving and ran full force against the high cement walk in front of Anderson & Ebentier's. Her little girl was thrown onto the windshield which broke and gave her nose a bad cut. She was taken at once to the drug store for first aid treatment.
