

Josephine E. Brudwick, who recently returned to the state university at Minneapolis has been appointed assistant in the department of agricultural engineering and is teaching applied mathematics. She is working for her Master of Arts degree with Educational Psychology as a major and psychology as a minor. She secured her Bachelor of Science in June with two majors, Administration and Supervision, and mathematics. The enrollment at the university is 10,459. Of these 560 are graduates.