

Nicholas Meade, a farmer near Kensal, confessed to the robbery of the Courtenay bank and the murder of the assistant cashier and is now at Bismarck to serve a life sentence for his crime. A $3,000 shortage in school funds, of which he was treasurer, was given as the motive for the deed.
