

Banister Banter

Winsome Wit and Wisdom

The answer to last week's "heart problem": 4200 beats per hour; 10,080 per day; 3,628,800 beats per year and 217,728,000 beats in a lifetime of 60 years. Am I right or wrong?

Prof Knudson [giving General Science assignment] "Take the next ten pages and be able to answer questions at the end of the chapter. Even though you don't study the lesson they might help you to recite!"

Just because a cat has kittens in an oven does not mean they are biscuits—Senator Reed.

For the General Science class, a definition of snow:

"Is it snowing?"

"No, that's angels' dandruff."

—The Pathfinder

About two weeks ago Prof. Knudson rang the dismissal bell by mistake 40 minutes before the customary time. For explanation he said "Guess I was dreaming." Yes, we noticed those fleecy spring clouds too.

Never take a bigger bite than you can swallow. Its always embarrassing to choke and cough, and retract one's statements—Our H. S. Philosopher.

Go to the ant, thou sluggard; Consider her ways and be wise; Which, having no chief, overseer or ruler, provideth her bread in the summer, and gathereth her food in the harvest.—Proverbs 6, 6-10

S. B. "Boy I'm wise!"

S. C. "What?"

S. B. "I'm—oh! nothing."

S. C. "I agree with you there"

History Instructor "What was the name of France's great general?"

Student [dreaming of baseball] "Nope, Ole's on first"

Hist. Inst. "Napoleon I. Correct."

Let us be intelligent, not "smart."

Nothing is more necessary to success than a definite goal.

Mrs. John F. Sippel

Here's the distinction that marks the good housekeepers, office keepers, animal-keepers or what have you. They have a place for everything and everything in its place.

Cliff (after semester examinations) "Well did you pass?"

Ken "Yep, I shore did!"

Cliff "what in?"