

C. J. Erlandson has sold his Essex sedan to his son Alfred, who with his family, will use it on their trip to the state of Washington. Chris says the old Henry is good enough for him, but if it proves too slow he will get a bicycle to use instead.