

The water flow at the oil well has finally been shut off by filling the hole with mud, into which the 4½ inch casing was lowered Tuesday. We are advised that the mud in this casing will be out and drilling started again, possibly Thursday.