

^ "Peanuts" passed in his checks Thursday morning via the shotgun route in hands of A. J. Gunderson. The latter was crossing the street to the post office when the dog spied him and sprang for him with vicious intent. Gunderson rushed for the office, barely getting inside in time to escape being bitten again. The brute was daily becoming more of a nuisance and menace and it is a good thing he has been killed.