

A team of horses, hitched to a wagon and grain tank was struck and instantly killed by No. 27 at Hannaford Thursday evening. The driver, John Lerum, miraculously escaped with only a shaking up and a broken bone in one arm. The accident occurred at the crossing west of the coal chute.