

Wm. Lowth, former merchant and postmaster at Revere, but now a traveling salesman, landed in Sutton Wednesday night with a badly frozen pair of toes after a tough experience trying to make a trip by car from Glenfield to Cooperstown. He was O. K. Thursday and went on his way on the train that evening.