

John Peters is nursing a bad thumb as the result of an accident while working with a cream separator at Jess Willey's last Sunday. In some manner his thumb was caught in the gearing and the end cut almost off. He went to a doctor for treatment and will not have to lose any part of the member.