

Max Strasser was in town last Thursday, the family having been released from quarantine. They were confined since January 8, Mrs Strasser and their seven children having been sick with scarlet fever at different periods. During that time Max, also, had an attack of flu. C. A. Linse's were under quarantine for almost the same length of time.