

A car of wheat in an east-bound freight was derailed a mile or so west of town Sunday morning which tied up traffic until a wrecker could be brought from Breckenridge to get the car back on the track. The train was started on its way Sunday evening.

Another turkey day in Sutton Monday drew quite a lot of people to town to market their product. The stores had their Xmas goods nicely displayed and received a generous amount of patronage. Bolduc's served coffee and cookies which were greatly appreciated by those coming into town.

Miss Dagny Amundson went to Fargo Wednesday afternoon, intending to visit her sister Signe before going on to her home at Gary, Minnesota for her winter vacation. Louise expects to go at a later date. Miss Mabel Hochberger and Mrs. Iver Alm will do the hotel work during their absence.

School Notes

Christmas Program in Hall Saturday Nite

The annual Christmas program presented by the school will be given Saturday night, December 20.

The program consists of two parts. The upper grades and high school are preparing a cantata, "The Wondrous Story," which is a story of the Star, the Three Wise Men and the Holy Babe, told in words and music. The music is supplied by a girls' chorus.

The intermediate and primary grades are presenting an operetta, "A Penny for Christmas." Johnny Greencoat, who was a poor boy, found a penny and was willing to give it away to another poor boy to help make Christmas merry. Santa Claus and his helpers visit us and a chorus of children sing Christmas songs.

School closes Friday, December 19 for a two week recess. We will reopen Monday, January 5.

Dover Farmer Union Meeting

The annual banquet by Dover local No. 260 was held Saturday, December 6, at the Dover consolidated school. Serving began at 1:30, the tables being decorated with large bouquets of flowers prepared by three young girls. The waiters were two young ladies, and three young men of our local. They wore headbands on which were the letters "F U" as did also the ladies who served the food.

About 100 were out to enjoy the wonderful eats, a glorious day and a perfect moonlight night. After enjoying the meal which they pronounced a success the men adjourned to another to play whist while the ladies humored them by clearing away the table. They, too, then spent the afternoon in a social way.

At chore time the men hurried home for their evening tasks and then came back for supper and the business session at night.

After the routine of business, presided over by Mr. Anslinger, election of officers for 1931 was held. The new officers elected are, president, Robert Walks, unanimous; vice president; secretary, H. Kamphuis, unanimous; treasurer, Oscar Nelson, unanimous; contract-or, Clarence Wild; cor.-sec. Mrs. W. J. Kubbernuss, unanimous. It was decided to have no door keepers, but hold open meetings.

There was no report on the state convention as the state treasurer, N. G. Knoble, was present to give a talk.

The gathering ended with whist and dancing, the music being provided by Mr. Toner and Oscar Nelson. This continued until 3 a. m.

There will be more events to follow.

Mrs. W. J. Kubbernuss,

Cor. Sec. Wimbledon.

Ed. Note—Through error the name of Edw. Williams, newly elected vice president, was omitted from the above list.

are narrow and dirty. The sidewalks are hardly wide enough for two people to walk on. Of course the new part is all modern but more or less dirty. On every corner you will find a native traffic cop but that does not help pedestrians as the traffic is always jammed. There really is no such a thing as traffic regulations to aid the pedestrian in crossing a street.

The thing I get the most kick out of is the trains. They are small and painted in many different colors. At the slightest incline of the road bed they have to put on a double header. These trains run up to Bugio, which is the tourist center at the very top of the highest mountain here. There have been times in the past years that snow has been seen up there. Bugio is about seven thousand feet above sea level. The army officers all go up there for their vacations, but we enlisted men can't afford to.

Then back in the mountain fastness we have many tribes who are as yet uncivilized. These are the Moros, Aotas and Igorotes. These are the most powerful and dangerous tribes. There are many others here, too, but I am not familiar with their names.

The Moros often come to town, but always are gentle while here. Of course no one makes any attempt to molest them for the reason that it wouldn't be healthy for them to try it. These people only wear G strings and sometimes a hat made of grass or bamboo. Many of the chieftans have a coat or something, given to them by some white man for friendship's sake. When they wear a coat they are very proud of it and want every one to notice it, too.

The most vicious tribe I believe is the Igorotes. There are very few men who enter the mountains near their place of abode without an escort of constabulary soldiers. The tribes are in deadly fear of the constabulary because of their brutality.

Well Ed, I will have to close for now as it is getting late.

I am in the hospital now and have been for the past six months with heart trouble. I am expecting to go back to duty in a very few days, tho. I sure was sick for a time. I guess th
