

Seven members of the Elias Berge family, living between Hannaford and Cooperstown are dead with the prevailing diseases. Only the father and one child are left, and both are very low also.