

A message from Dieterich, Illinois Saturday morning bore the sad intelligence that our mother was dead. Owing to the fact that we visited her at Christmas time it was impossible to see her again at this time. She was eighty-two years of age March 4, and was the mother of nine children, five now living. Her life was one of unceasing toil and her trials and sacrifices were many.