

The little three year old boy of Fred Dieterich's received an injury to his throat from a barbed wire Saturday. The family had moved from town to the new home on the Rhodes farm, and while the boy was playing in the yard he ran into the wire, cutting a severe gash on his throat and one on his head. Dr. Lewis was called and he took a number of stitches to close up the wounds.