

Anton Nelson had the misfortune to run a large sliver into his foot one day last week. It was imbedded so deeply that it was necessary for Dr. Lewis to put him under the influence of an anaesthetic and cut the piece out.