

H. L. Russell and family moved Wednesday of this week to Glenfield, where they will conduct an eating house, that town being without one at present. Mr. Russell has an exceptionally good proposition offered him, and he considered the change would be a profitable one.