

Roy Wagoner is quite badly crippled up as a result of running the prong of a pitchfork several inches into his foot Tuesday night. The fork was lying on a manure boat in the barn and he ran against it in the dark. For a time it was feared blood poisoning might result.