

Past Away

Last Friday

OLD TIME RESIDENT OF THIS PLACE LAID TO REST LAST MONDAY

N. P. Sluga, who was one of the old time resident of this place, and who has been ill for the past two years, suffering with tuberculosis, passed away last Friday evening at his home here, at the age of 39 years. Mr. Sluga had been out and around most of the time, and last March he went to Canada and filed on land with the hopes of settling there this fall, but after his return to his home here his health gradually grew worse and his death had been expected for some time.

Mr. Sluga came to this place when Courtenay was just a mere spot compared to its population today and he has resided here continuously and was well known for miles around. He leaves a wife and one sister to mourn his loss, the sister now residing in Jamestown.

The funeral was held on Monday from the Catholic church in Wimbledon and burial was in the cemetery at that place.
