

Fred Wanner, former county superintendent of schools of this county, died last Thursday in a hospital at Jamestown where he was operated upon for gall stones. Mr. Wanner was well known throughout the entire county and was well liked by all. His recovery was anticipated by his physicians, he having been pronounced out of danger, but he suddenly took worse and death followed. He was laid to rest Sunday in the cemetery at Jamestown.

---