

One of the best appearing gardens to be found in the city is that of T. J. Atwood, who has taken great pains in keeping the same clear of weeds, and everything planted has matured in splendid condition and as pay for his efforts he will enjoy eating some of the finest vegetables that can be produced from any soil. If anyone is seeking advice on how to garden, we would suggest they consult Mr. Atwood.