

The large barn recently purchased by Geo. Brastrup, which was located in the rear of the Hensel home, here, was removed to the land which he recently purchased, north of here, Tuesday. Owing to the barn being tall, much work was encountered in getting it through town, as the telephone wires had to be cut to get through. It required twelve head of horses to move the barn.

---