

Old Timer Here

Alex Frazer, who was formerly a resident here, has arrived in the city after an absence of 11 years. He came from his home at Brier Crest, Sask., where he is rated as one of the leading farmers.

Mr. Frazer is well known around here, at one time being a carpenter, he having built and resided in the house now occupied by I. N. Beach.

He likes the Canadian country and reports crop conditions very good up his way, and also noticed that North Dakota is going to do her share in furnishing the world's supply of grain this year. Mr. Frazer is enjoying his visit very much renewing old acquaintances, and we all enjoy listening to him tell of some of his Canadian experiences.
