

John Gibson, who went to Pennsylvania early in the winter to make his home, got so homesick for this country, that he bid the eastern climate adieu and is again enjoying life at Glenfield.