

Will Move Here.

R. B. Lowe, the manager of the new Courtenay Mercantile Co. store expects to move here from Jamestown as soon as suitable quarters can be obtained. Mr. Lowe is well known here, and is an old time store keeper. The company has leased the building known as the Courtenay Mercantile building for a term of five years, with an option of five years more, and intends to be a permanent fixture here.

The interior has been repainted and otherwise put in good shape, and two cars of stock have arrived. New fixtures are being installed and Saturday, Sept. 12, is fixed as the big opening day. Manager Lowe states that they will cater to the general public with a full line of everything in the mercantile line, and it will be their aim to offer bargains from time to time, so there will be no need of sending away for goods.

With the opening of this new store Courtenay will have three of the finest and most up-to-date stores in the state, and there is no question but what more trade will be brought into the town when this store opens as the field is large.
