

Courtenay Firm Sells Out

STOCK TO BE REMOVED TO THE NEW TOWN OF GLEN-FIELD

The general mercantile store which has been conducted here by Gorthy & Polly, has been purchased by Carl McDaniel, who lives near Glenfield, and who is well known throughout the entire territory, having farmed near Glenfield for a number of years.

Mr. McDaniel will remove the stock to Glenfield, where he has purchased a building for the purpose of opening up a first class mercantile business and there is no doubt but what the new venture on the part of Mr. McDaniel will be a success. This will give the town of Glenfield two mercantile stores, both being moved there from Courtenay.

Messrs. Gorthy & Polly will devote their time to the meat market which they are the owners of, and intend to make some of the latest improvements and when the same is finally put in shape, they expect to have one of the neatest and cleanest meat markets in this part of the state.

The people of Courtenay will appreciate the efforts of these gentlemen in giving them a first class meat market, which has been their intentions since becoming interested in the same, but owing to their other business, it was impossible to give the meat market the attention required, but Mr. Polly expects to give his entire time to catering to the wants of the people in the meat line hereafter.
