

One of the best looking crops that has ever appeared in the fields at this time of the year, is seen on the Lars Nelson farm. Words cannot describe the excellent fields to be seen, comprising some 1600 acres. The best fields of Marquis wheat ever grown in this county, without a doubt, is to be found on this farm, there being 400 acres of this variety of wheat. Lars is the first to raise Marquis wheat around here, and says that this is the variety to raise, as it has been proven to his satisfaction, and anyone seeing the crop on his land at the present time, will feel the same about Marquis wheat. Of course Lars is a very good authority on farming which goes a long ways towards a good crop.
