

Larry Prader, now a full fledged elevator man at Sells, N. D., spent a few days here this week. Houses are a rare article at the present time, but several new homes are now being constructed, and he expects to be able to move into one of them as soon as the same is finished.