

LIVELY RUNAWAY—

Tuesday afternoon those who happened to be on the streets saw quite a lively runaway. As A. O. Scott was turning the corner at the First National bank to go north, several boys ran out to hop on the sleigh for a ride, and in turning the corner the sleigh slid in such a manner one runner turned under, throwing Mr. Scott to the ground. The horses became frightened and started on a mad dash down the street, Mr. Scott clinging to the lines for about a block until the Atwood corner was reached and the team started to turn the corner where, he seeing his danger of being hurt, let loose. The horses divided between the pole, smashing the sleigh and loosening themselves. The team was finally caught at the Soo depot. Outside the sleigh being badly demolished no other damages were reported, although Mr. Scott was in great danger of receiving severe bruises by being dragged down the street.
