

Mrs. Semke took her little daughter to Jamestown last week to consult the doctors there in regard to the little ones health. It is feared the child has cancer of the nose, from which the little one has suffered with for over a year.