

The ski tournament in Fargo served to arouse sufficient interest in this great outdoor sport, so that a number of the interested local fans decided to take advantage of the natural advantages afforded by the steep creek bank, and have constructed just back of town a runway which gives skiers a good opportunity to practice. Last Sunday nearly the whole town was out either to participate in the sport, or to watch those who did. It is a good, clean pasttime, and one that is worthy of support and encouragement.
