HANNAFORD SCHOOL NOTES
 • • • • •

The English II class is now doing newspaper work. They wrote up several items concerning the capturing of the five bandits that took place here a few days ago. They wrote up about the Halloween party and Armistice Day as well as other items. The following is some of their work.

The Reverend Mr. Wood of the Presbyterian Church of Hannaford spoke to High School and Grammar rooms November 10th about Armistice day and what it means to the world. He spoke about the other wars in the United States where the men fought for what they thought was a just cause.

He then spoke about the world war, how the boys of the United States died to save Humanity. In his speech he spoke about the Disarmament Conference which is being held in Washington, D. C. Lastly he gave a practical application where he said that the young generation of to-day should look forward into the future to see if they can not fill a position in one thing or another where they will be a help to the world.

Armistice Day was made a legal holiday because it was the day fighting ceased in the World War. It is being celebrated this year by having the Disarmament Conference meet at Washington, D. C.

The Debating Society which has been organized in the Hannaford High School, is studying the outline for a debate. There are about ten members and they will be divided into two teams. The question for debate is "Resolved that the Dillingham Law offers the best means for restriction of immigration." This means that the immigration of each country should be limited to a certain percentage, as stated in the law.

A program will be given by the Hannaford Public School in the early part of December. The High School Glee Club is practicing a number of songs. A group of High School girls will give a gypsy drill. In the Primary Room the second grade is dramatizing a story and the first grade is going to give a folk dance or drill. One of the girls in
