

The six-year-old son of Harry Ladbury was quite seriously burned on the legs, and hips yesterday as a result of playing with gasoline near a pile of burning rubbish in the yard. He had been playing with a gasoline pump and had gotten his clothes saturated with the liquid when he went near the fire and his clothes instantly ignited. Fortunately help was near at hand and the clothes were removed and the fire extinguished quickly, but even at that he sustained some painful burns. Dr. Benson was called, the injuries dressed, and reports that he will soon be fully recovered.
