WALUM NEWS NOTES
• • • • •

Geo. J. Jacobson went to Valley City last Monday evening on business. He returned here Tuesday.

Mrs. C. C. Nash left Tuesday for Grace City for a short visit with friends there. She returned home Friday.

The annual township election held here last Tuesday was very quiet, there being only one supervisor to be elected and Mr. John H. Haugen being the only candidate carried the election.

E. W. Everson and Martin J. Mossing returned from Fargo last Tuesday where they had been with Mrs. Mossing who entered St. Lukes hospital there for treatments.

Mrs. Joe Marson came up from Dazey Thursday and visited with friends here between trains.

CREAM! CREAM!

Bring your cream to W. A. Marshall, agent for Bridgman-Russell at Walum. Prices right at all times, Honest weight and reliable tests. Be a Missourian. Do it once, anyway.

The entertainment and Primrose cream separator demonstration put on Saturday afternoon by the Farmers Co-Operative Mercantile Co. proved a big success. The hall was full to the brim and a good program was given, consisting of musical numbers, singing and jokes, after which the cream separator was demonstrated. Following this the drawing took place to see who was to win the cream separator which was given away. Mikel Haugen won the cream separator with number 163 which was the third number drawn as the winner. The contest was placed in the hands of three local people so that no question as to the fairness of the contest could be brought up. Lunch was served to all those present and the afternoon was enjoyed by all.

E. W. Iverson left Saturday for Fargo to make a short visit with relatives there.

Mrs. O. M. Rognlien and daughter Josie spent the time between trains at Cooperstown Monday.

Mrs. J. Tougas returned to her home near Shepard after spending a short time visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Julius Larsen.
