

S. B. Clark received a telegram Sunday evening conveying the sad news of his twenty-two-year-old son's death in Iowa. The young man was employed in a packing plant.