

Just after he had boarded the train to go to Fargo to the hospital Thursday evening, Andrew Hanson succumbed to heart failure and was taken off the train. He was fifty-five years old, and had been bothered with heart trouble for a number of years. His cousin, Andrew L. Fogderud, took charge of the remains, and interment will be made in the Walum cemetery on Thursday. Deceased has spent several summers in this vicinity, though his former home was in Wisconsin. Alfred Hanson, one of his sons, was last year employed as manager of Nordeng & Alm's meat market. Deceased is survived by four sisters, Mrs. L. Borge, Hudson, Wis., Mrs. O. Borgen, Borgen, Wis., Mrs. Pete

Hocorn and Mrs. Rasmus Johnson, of Cumberland, Wis.; and two sons one now located at Cumberland, and the other at Ashland, Wis.