Fatal Accident on Engine

William Kuhlman while running a threshing engine on the Nick Flagler farm north of Wimbledon, got caught in the flywheel of the engine Saturday morning and was so severely injured that he died within an hour.

The young man had climbed on top of the engine and was in the act of pouring water in the radiator when he slipped and fell between the flywheel and engine. Before the machinery could be stopped the man was so severely injured that he died shortly after he was released. Several bones were broken and he was injured internally.

The young man was 24 years of age and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kuhlman who reside on a farm in the vicinity of Wimbledon.
