

WEDDING BELLS

A very quiet wedding took place at the Hoggarth homestead west of this village Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 8, when Rev. P. A. Thoreson spoke the impressive words which united in the Holy bond of matrimony Florence Hoggarth, youngest daughter of Mrs. Hannah Hoggarth, and Melvin C., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Sonju, both of Bartley township.

Miss Margaret Hovland presided at the piano and, as the strains of Lohengren's Bridal Chorus floated through the rooms, the bridal pair, attended by the bride's sister, Amy, and the groom's brother, Gustav, entered and took their place under an arch of smilax and fern leaves, where they were met by Rev. Thoreson.

The bride was daintily gowned in white crepe meteor and carried a bouquet of white roses; the bridesmaid wore pale green silk sublime and carried pink carnations, while the groom wore the conventional black.

Shortly after the ceremony the wedding party gathered in the dining room to partake of a sumptuous four-course dinner.

Both of these young people are well and favorably known, having grown to manhood and womanhood in the township in which they reside. The bride was also one of Griggs County's teachers for a number of years. They received a number of beautiful and useful presents.

They left on the fast train via the Great Northern late Wednesday evening for a short wedding trip to points of interest in Minnesota and North Dakota and upon their return will be at home to their friends on the groom's farm in Helena township.

A host of friends join in wishing them a joyful and prosperous journey adown life's pathway together.
