

Bert Carr, who worked here as an engineer at the time of the construction of the Great Northern grade across the creek, was a passenger for Breckenridge last week. Mr. Carr is now boiler maker in the employ of the Great Northern, and he lives in Minot.