

One night last week while Andrew Fortney was out on the farm some miscreant went into the yard of his house in town and broke off and carried away nearly all the rose buds and bushes. Mr. Fortney says that unless the buds are brought back he will prosecute the guilty parties. He would gladly give a bouquet of flowers to parties wishing them, but he will not tolerate the wanton destruction of his plants.