

Doings In Our School

Edited this week by Orney Dunnun

Edythe Olsen returned to school two weeks ago after a five-weeks' absence on account of an operation for appendicitis. She is catching up with her class work very rapidly.

The regular meeting of the Adelpi Literary Society was held Friday, Feb. 4. The election of officers constituted the business carried on. Julius Aarestad was elected president; Marion Markwood, vice-president; Clara Nelson, secretary, and Mabel Peterson, Miss Lauder and Phyllis Schmidt were chosen as the program committee.

A girls' sewing club has been started among the freshmen and sophomore girls. The club meets every Wednesday evening. Sewing is the main thing carried on at the meetings and the girls profit very much by it.

Some sort of an organization for the boys in the high school ought to be started as it would be a good thing to help resist some of the temptations they meet with.

Edythe Olsen and Viola Troseth were visiting in the Primary room Friday, a week ago, the day of the debate.

Those who accompanied the debate team to New Rockford Friday were: Hazel Larson, Erma Armstrong, Mabel Peterson, Minnie Anderson, Miss Lauder, Kenneth Markuson and Orney Dunnun. A good time was reported by all and especially Julius, Kenneth and Mabel who arrived home on Sunday morning.

The pupils of the High School were surprised to hear that Jeannette Westley, a last year's graduate, was taken sick at Fargo and had to give up her studies for a while. According to the latest report she seems to be getting better in spite of the fact that she just missed an operation. The High School pupils all wish her a speedy recovery.

The American Literature class has been studying Lowell the past week.

The Civics class was started the beginning of last week. This subject is taken together with American History to make a full year credit.

Merill Curtis left school Thursday on account of the grippe.

The Literary Society is planning and working hard on a program celebrating Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays. Although they are keeping things secret we expect something good.

Through the generosity of Miss Lauder and her sister the School has received a number of magazines as follows: Harpers, Physical Culture, Good Housekeeping, The Independent, The Musician, World's Work, McClure's, The American Boy and The Literary Digest. Some of the other magazines on the reading table are: The Weekly Spectrum from the Agricultural College, The Jamestown Collegian, The Blue and the Gold from Fargo College, Review of Reviews and The Dakota Farmer. Some of the above were procured by the school board and through the free will of Mr. Coddling.

Rumors are around about a magazine rack which is under construction in the manual training room. We all hope it will come up and take its place in the High School room.
