

Charley Hyde, of Buhl, Idaho, was visiting friends in this community last week. He was on his way to Indianapolis where he is employed as teacher in the public schools. It is nine years since Charley left Hanaford and he found that the old town has changed considerably in that time.

•