

Ludwig Hareland and Robert Larson returned from Fargo Wednesday where they taken the latter's brother, Lenard, to St. Luke's Hospital. Lenard suffered a very painful accident a few days before. While shingling a granary he missed the scaffolding and fell to the frozen ground fracturing the right arm at the elbow and also hurting the right leg. The hurt leg is not thought very serious but it is feared that the arm may become stiff.