

Sigurd Romsaas, who works for Mekali Moguard, suffered some painful injuries to his arm about a week ago. He was grinding feed when in some manner his forearm was caught in the machinery resulting in torn tendons. Dr. Benson was called to dress the wound and the patient is now on the road to recovery.