

Julius Westley, who has been employed in Hannaford Mercantile Store for several years past, has resigned his position and will leave this week for the cities to attend a business college.