

Louis Alm received word some days ago from his sister, Mrs. Severin Nelson, of Loyalist, that her husband had passed away at that place. The following clipping from the Loyalist, Alberta, newspaper, relates the circumstances of the occurrence: "Tuesday evening, Dec. 10, Severin Nelson, who lives south of Loyalist, passed away very suddenly at the home of Pat Lee. The particulars as they reached us are as follows: He had gone over to Mr. Lee's to help butcher, but had begun to feel ill and later when just about to leave for home, fell over and expired almost instantly. Mr. Nelson was a man well-liked by his neighbors, all of whom speak highly of his many good qualities. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss. The Enterprise extends the sincere sympathy of the community to those so suddenly bereaved." Mr. Nelson was at one time engaged with Carl Hanson in the dray and livery business in this village, and has many friends and acquaintances here
