

A telegram to the editor received yesterday stated that Adolph Sterling had died at East Stamwood, Wash., from pneumonia. Adolph had lived nearly all his life at Stamwood with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sterling, except for one season when he worked for his uncle, Andrew J. Anderson, of Sutton.