BONDS AND STAMPS NOT RIVALERS.

The Liberty Loan Campaign and the War Savings movement are no more rivals than the super-dreadnoughts and the destroyers of our navy are rivals.

The Liberty Loan and the War Savings Stamps are two forms of the same financial operation of the United States government. They were authorized by the same vote of Congress and are intended to supplement each other. They are both of paramount importance to the financing of the war. The Liberty Loan Campaign is primarily to obtain the many billions of dollars necessary toward paying the expenses of war and lending to our Allies.

The peculiar significance of the War Savings movement is to teach the nation to save and to invest its savings in War Savings Stamps in order that the government may not merely get money, but spend this money for the support of the army.

The War Savings campaign will last throughout the year, probably until the war is over. It aims at developing habits of thrift that shall make the sales of stamps cumulative.

The person of limited means who invests in a few War Savings Stamps does his share as well as the wealthier man who buys a quantity of Liberty Loan Bonds.

Millions who could not afford to invest in Liberty Bonds will be able and glad to help by investing in War Savings Stamps.

The two campaigns are, in reality, but one—that of financing for victory,

Lick the Stamp and Lick the Kaiser.

Stamp, Stamp, Stamp, the Boys are Marching.

Drift toward the Thrift.

Those who do nothing are getting ready to do worse.
