

Peter Falstad narrowly escaped what might have proved a serious accident last Friday. While he was repairing a gasoline tank an explosion occurred blowing the tank to pieces, but luckily no one was hurt.